IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Rolapp Decides that Minors Cannot Recover Money Lost in Gambling.

Administrators of Estates Must Make Prompt Reports - Probate Business - Combs Held for Larceny.

In H. S. Wild vs John F. Smith, the ed in the district court yesterday; H. S. Wild vs John F. Smith; the court sustained the defendant's demurrer. This was a suit brought by the plaintin through his guardian to recover $65 from the defendant, on the grounds that the plaintiff was a minor and lost the above amount at gambling, which was won by the defendant, an adult. Judge Rolapp in rendering his decision cited various points of law bearing on the subject, and said: "If courts were to vary this rule as to minors, it would encourage rather than discourage gambling among them. A minor close enough to his majority to deceive by his appearance an adult particeps criminis would feel encouraged to engage in gambling, because he would feel that if he won he would be the gamer, and if he lost, the courts would protect him to the extent of his losses. I think it of greater advantage that a minor should be made to understand that when he engages in unlawol enterprises the court will not act as his friend, and when, as in this case such illegal act has reached publicity

THATCHER, ARIZONA. NEW PRIMARY PRESIDENT.

Emery Branch Organized - Sad Demise of Mrs. Melissa M, Hanks.

Special Correspondence. Thatcher, Graham Co., Arizona, Dec. 12.—Today at 1 p. m. Melissa Merrill Hanks died of typhoid fever. She was the daughter of Thomas L. and Esther Collett Merrill, born Dec. 13, 1882, at St. David, Arizona. She was married just a year ago to Geo. A. Hanks, their reception being given in the Academy, where Elder Hanks was then taking the missionary course. George remained a few months in the Southern States mission. Shortly after his return the couple separated. Five weeks ago a child was born, and while yet in a deli-cate condition the mother contracted typhoid fever. In less than one year the nineteen-year-old girl was a sweetheart, a bride, a widow, a mother and a corpse, the funeral will take place at the chapel of the academy tomorrow. The diseased is grand daughter to Patriarch Philemon C. Merrill, who was one of the "Mormon Battalion" and a pioneer of Arizona. Today his aged companion, sister Merrill, lies almost at the point of death. NEW BRANCH ORGANIZED.

On Sunday, the 8th inst., President Andrew Kimball and Wm. E. McBride one of the St. Joseph Stake Sunday school superintendents, met with the school superintendents, met with the people living about four miles west of Ft. Thomas, on the Gila River, and organized them into the "Emery" branch of the Matthews ward. George W. Wyatt, formerly of southeast Alabama, was sustained as progiding Elder. He was sustained as presiding Elder. He emigrated first to Sanford, Colorado, and came here later. The little Sunday school organized in April last placed under his supervision was found in a healthy and prosperous condition.

PRIMARY REORGANIZED. At the Stake Primary conference held recently Sister Rebecca Warren, who had served about fourteen years as president, was he and sister Cynthia Layton sustained to take his place. A testimonial was ten-dered Sister Warren in the Thatcher assembly hall, and a very substantial expression given her by the various ward officers, aside from a pleasant social testimonial there were numerous presents awarded the retiring president.
